Children & Adults Against Drugging America

CHAADA is a newly founded organization raising awareness about the overmedicating of America & the deception occurring within the psychiatric profession, the inhumanity of involuntary hospitalization, the preying on innocent people, especially children, in order to turn a profit, & the dangers of the drugs used to treat alleged mental illnesses. If you agree that America is overmedicated or if you or someone close to you have been pressured into taking psychotropic drugs & have suffered severe side effects, speak out today! To add your name to the list of others speaking out publicly, please sign the form below. Just by adding your name, you will have a huge impact on our efforts of spreading awareness.
